DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election of Group I, Claims 1-10, in the reply filed on April 14, 2006 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Claims 11-19 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected Group, II and III, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on April 14, 2006.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1 -10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, line 13, "respective controls" lacks a prior antecedent.

In claim 2, lines 1-2, "the articulated coupling assembly" lacks a prior antecedent.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1,3 and 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Pennig (U.S. Patent No. 4,988,349).

Pennig discloses an external fixation device comprising a first portion and a second portion with a first and second clamp assembly for releasably attaching the respective first and second portions with at least one bone pin and a coupling assembly joining the first and second portion. This coupling assembly can be controlled for incremental rotation in the horizontal plane independent of rotation in the vertical plane and incremental rotation in the vertical plane is independent of rotation in the horizontal plane. The first and second portions are elongated and have generally rectangular cross sections with their respective lengths being substantially the same. Also disclosed are a first control and a second control for incremental positioning of the first and second clamp assembly relative to the coupling assembly, independent of the other clamp. With regard to the statement of intended use and other functional statements, they do not impose any structural limitations on the claims distinguishable over Pennig which is capable of being used as claimed if one so desires to do so. In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). Furthermore, the law of anticipation does not require that the reference “teach” what the subject patent teaches, but rather it is only necessary that the claims under attack “read on” something in the reference. Kalman v. Kimberly Clark Corp., 218 USPQ 781 (CCPA 1983).

Furthermore, the manner in which a device is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987).

Claims 1 and 3-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Weiner (U.S. Patent No. 6,056,748).

Weiner discloses an external fixation device comprising a first portion and a second portion with a first and second clamp assembly for releasably attaching the respective first and second portions with at least one bone pin and a coupling assembly joining the first and second portion. This coupling assembly can be controlled for incremental rotation in the horizontal plane independent of rotation in the vertical plane and incremental rotation in the vertical plane is independent of rotation in the horizontal plane. The first and second portions are elongated and have generally rectangular cross sections where the length of the first portion is less than that of the second portion.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pennig (U.S. Patent No. 4988,349) in view of Squires et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5,524,859).

Pennig discloses the claimed invention except for the coupling assembly further comprising two worm gear assemblies. Squires disclose the use of two worm gears to control the operations of the device to allow locks to be eliminated. It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to have made the invention of Pennig with two worm gears in view of Squires et al., in order to better control the rotation of the fixator and remove the necessity of having locks to maintain the devices position.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 8-10 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. See PTO-892 for art cited of interest.
